Dear Sir/Madam,

We are reaching out to you on behalf of the organizing committee of the „53rd European Environment Mutagenesis and Genomics Society meeting „. We extend an invitation to you, if it is feasible, to join us as a sponsor or an exhibitor at next year's symposium, taking place in Bratislava, Slovakia, from June 2nd to 5th, 2025.

The aim of this symposium is to bring together experts from diverse fields encompassing scientific research institutions, healthcare, regulatory bodies, and the corporate sector, to facilitate the exchange of insights and knowledge in the areas of genomics and environmental mutagenesis, which hold significant importance in the preservation of human health and environment.

We anticipate the participation of approximately 250 scientists from various disciplines representing Slovakia, the wider region, and the global scientific community. Over the course of four days, participants will share findings from a multitude of studies in applied, population, and molecular biology, as well as genetics pertaining to malignant diseases. Topics such as the impact of the environment, climate change, and occupational conditions on the genomes of human cells and organs, as well as those of plants and animals, will be addressed. Before the symposium, we plan to team up with The Health and Environmental Sciences Institute (HESI) which will organize a focused workshop. In addition to our ambitious scientific program, we aim to support the work of young scientists who will have the opportunity to organize, lead, and present their findings in dedicated sections.

Our symposium features a line-up of renowned experts in their respective fields. Notably, we have Dr. Mária Dušinská (NILU, Norway), a 2024 Frits Sobels awardee, Dr. Helena Kandárová (CEM SAS, Slovakia), a president of The European Society of Toxicology In Vitro, Dr. Silvia Pastoreková (BMC SAS, Slovakia), the first Slovak EMBO member and a director general of BMC SAS.

We have enclosed comprehensive details about sponsorship opportunities for the symposium, and it is important to emphasize that we can tailor your support to align with your specific interests and requirements. Should you have any further inquiries, please do not hesitate to reach out. Myself and the other members of the scientific and organizing committee of EEMGS 2025 are here to assist you.

We look forward to seeing you next year in Bratislava.
